CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Class of 1954, being of invincible minds and bodies, do hereby bequeath the following items, traits, characteristics, and other valuables to our beloved underclassmen who have awaited our graduation with sorrow and tears.

I, Joe Bihn, will my ability to keep busy in study hall to Lester Kenzig.

I, Don Bramley, leave my brace to anyone that needs a brace—knee brace that is.

I, Duane Brooks, will my ability to foul to Dick Parker. Keep it up Dick.

I, John Brooks, will all my driving skill to Ken Lizotte. Insurance agents—BEWARE!

I, Arlene Browand, bestow my camera and flash bulbs to anyone that won't mind being conspicuous.

I, Corinne Calvert, bequest my talkativeness in Sociology to Ken Lizotte.

I, Jane Daniels, will my ability to stay home from school at least two days per week to anyone who has as much work to do at home as I.

I, Margaret Deimling, will leave nothing, because I'll need all I have for the future.

I, Ruth Faur, leave my smile to Mary Ann Bedlivy.

I, Phyllis Frederick, will my typing ability to Myrna Prethel. (Use more than one finger, Kid.)

I, Judy Galat, will my pony tail to Sandy Wolfe.

I, Dean Grim, will my long legs to Jim Stewart.

I, Carol Gross, leave my knowledge that Mr. Jirik's bark is worse than his bite to anyone he growls at.

I, Arlene Gundlach, will "Somebody's" ability to stare at me in the cafeteria.

I, Katherine Haring, will my spare time to grade Mr. Haugh's papers to anyone who can manage the task.

I, Ted Haury, leave my athletic ability to Johnny Swartz.

I, JoAnn Highman, leave my ability to sit through English Lit. without knowing what's going on to Alice Parker, who I know will like it about as well as I do.

I, Joanne Hilty, will my collection of cheerleading outfits to Bertha Browand.

I, Barbara Holly, will my position of counting noses in the lunch line to any junior capable of counting to 80.

I, Esther Kemrite, leave my truck driving experience to the next class that has a paper drive.

I, Marilyn Kramer, will my ability to go with one guy to Norma Benefit.

I, Ruth Krueger, will my job at Standard Drug to Jean Hines so she can be with her twin sister.

I, Joe Law, will my "steady" to Roger Swanker.

I, Mike Molino, leave my "straight jacket" to next year's editor.
After the jacket comes the padded cell.

I, Marlene Muntz, will my job as scorekeeper to anyone that knows how to write X, O, P1, P2, P3.

I, Helen Orth, will my extra weight to Barbara Sear.

I, Dale Ribbeck, will my curly hair to Wilbur Orth.

I, Vivian Sear, will my excessive use of "profane" language to Carol Miller.

I, Jim Stahl, bestow my ability to "forget" excuses to anyone that likes to make up for lost sleep in school.

I, Lois Stoskopf, will my ability to be first in lunch line to anyone who can skip three steps at a time. (Take it Easy!)

I, Joan Thomas, will my height to Betty Lou Muntz. (Now you'll be as tall as "him.")

I, Francis Veres, will my knack of monopolizing a conversation to Chuck Newberry.

I, Lois Weigel, will my quietness to Jeanie Weigel. Make good use of it.

I, Gloria Yannayon, will my patience to grow long hair to Joyce Matt.
Keep trying Joyce, you'll make it yet.

The Senior Class, thus fulfilling its duty by bequeathing this literary treasure to the Class of '55 does hereby leave everything that isn't red hot or nailed down to the faculty, in hopes that our presence won't too soon be forgotten.

CLASS HISTORY

The Class of '54—the first class to graduate from Buckeye High School—the class with the one year history—is a class that has made the most and best use of its new experience.

It was quite a new experience for us to leave behind our classes that we had for our other three high school years; to adjust ourselves to new teachers, rules, and above all, to our own personalities. We have done a tremendous job and completed our Senior year with a memory that will linger with us for the rest of our lives.

We, Seniors, all looked forward to that big trip to Washington, D.C. and New York City. To raise money for that trip, we started off with a project displaying our ability as salesmen and saleswomen by selling magazine subscriptions.

Many girls in our class proved to be as muscular as the boys on our paper drive, and more paper was collected than was expected.

The football concession stands helped our treasury tremendously, also popping popcorn for all the basketball tournament games, plus the operation of the entire concession stand for one evening.

Our Class Play was a big success and we enjoyed working together. Even those who played no role in the play had fun working on costumes, make-up and setting.

We are very proud of those who entered the Senior Scholarship Tests, and especially happy that three of our Seniors ranked in the District.

May 25th, the "Big Day," we were all wearing smiles; we were presented with a gift we shall keep as a part of ourselves, our diplomas. This event marked a major milestone in our lives.

CLASS PROPHECY

Say, you must be a stranger in these parts to ask about that old ivy-covered, brown-stone house set back behind that iron fence. The folks who live there call it the '54 Club, but most people call it the old folk's home. All of the residents were graduates of the class of '54 you know. Com'n in. I'll take you up to the house; you might recall some of them.

Watch out! Hit the ditch! Wheeeeew, that was a close call. That old lady, driving the 1954 Ford at 95 miles an hour was Judy Galat. She may be 65, but she's still determined to learn how to drive, even though ten driver training teachers since Mr. Conklin have had nervous breakdowns trying to teach her!

I think it's safe to continue up to the house now. Hmmm! Smell that southern fried chicken and those juicy blackberry pies. Katherine Haring was such a good cook that we gave her the job as head chef.

Those two ladies sitting in the rose arbor are JoAnne Highman, who is one of the nation's leading hair stylists, and Barbara Holly who managed the local telephone company.

Can you see those eight old ladies having tea under that shade tree? They're all professional women. You probably know them by their maiden names. Let's see, there's Margaret Deimling, Arlene Gundlach, Esther Kemrite, Ruth Krueger, and Vivian Sear. They were all private secretaries, tops in their fields, and, of course, they all married their bosses. The woman sitting next to Vivian is Jane Daniels. Remember, she joined the Air Force and became such a good organizer, we let her run the home. Sitting next to her is Ruth Faur, who became one of the more famous woman doctors. She's our doctor now and takes care of our rheumatism and arthritis. The woman snoring in her cup of tea is Carol Gross. She always used to fall asleep during P.O.D., despite Mr. Jirik's vain attempts to keep her awake, and I guess she just never got out of the habit.

Talking about Mr. Jirik, reminds me that we still hold classes here in the afternoon. In fact, see that little old man in the wheel chair coming up the drive? Poor Mr. Haugh! He still has faith that some of us scatter-brained girls will learn something about bookkeeping. We haven't the heart to disillusion him.

Your eyes aren't playing tricks on you. You really do see six old men running around and around the house in their shorts. They're the Brooks boys, John and Beaver, who were farmers; Don Bramley, who owned a gas station; and Dale Ribbeck and Paul Grim, who were truck drivers. They're all running because of that man with the long, grey, beard; wearing a red, green, blue, and black colored vest, who is sitting under the shade tree sipping a cool lemonade. Mr. Scrivens is bound and determined to keep his "boys" in shape if it kills him. (Or them!)

Speaking of teachers there are several grads who became teachers—Joe Bihn, who teaches math; Lois Weigel, who teaches the elementary grades, and Mike Molino, who teaches advanced science.

Today is a big day for Arlene Brow and, Joanne Hilty, Lois Stoskopf, and Joan Thomas because today is visitors day. Promptly at 2:00 this afternoon all of Arlene, Joanne, Lois, and Joan's children, grandchildren, and great grandchildren will pay them a visit. Mr. Naragon, who is the spryest of us all, even though he is 102, will come with the children. Of course, Mr. Hawkins and Mr. Wurstle will be there to see that all the children don't make a sound, keep out of the flower beds, and behave themselves like "perfect little ladies and gentlemen."

Those two men sitting on the porch swapping fish stories are Joe Law and Jim Stahl. The old lady working in the flower bed is Gloria Yannayon, whose once beautiful black hair is now a streaked grey. She's dreaming about the days of her youth when she ran away and joined the circus to become the best horse trainer in the world.

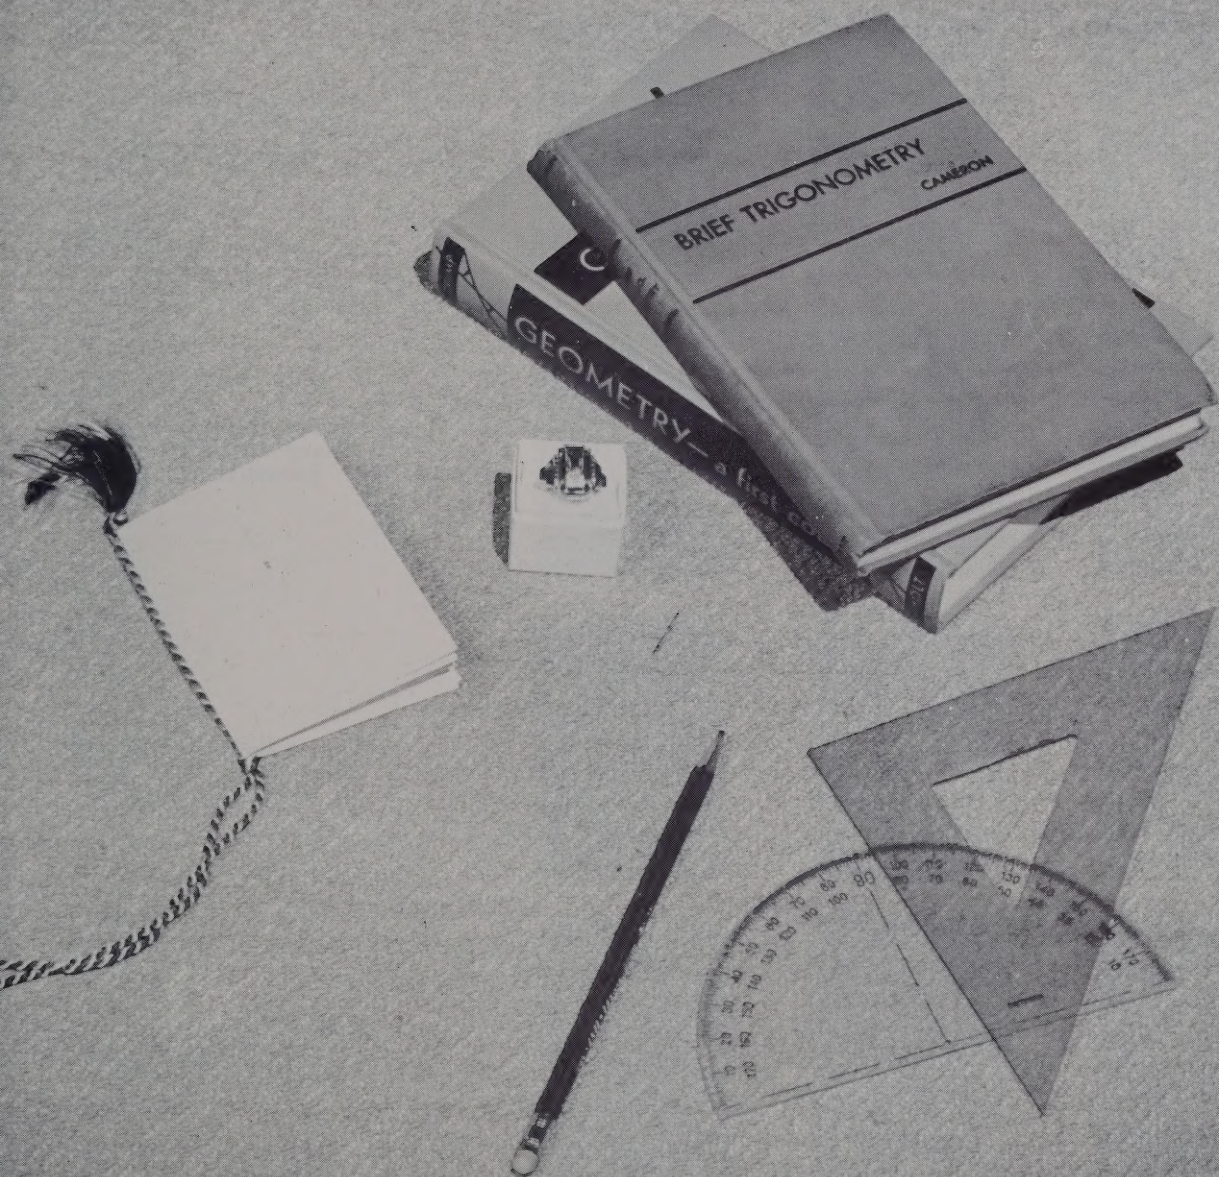

We're very proud of our house because it was designed by Francis Veres, built by Ted Haury, and the interior decoration was done by Marlyn Kramer with the help of Mrs. Fialkowski and Mrs. Colburn.

That awful buzzing noise overhead is Marlene Muntz flying her new piper cub airplane. She started out as a stewardess but wasn't satisfied until she became the pilot, too.

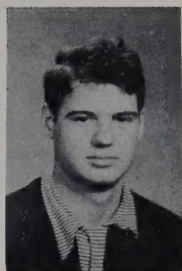

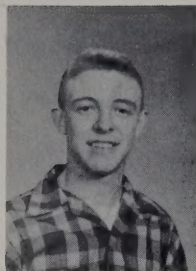

Don't think that the life here is all work, however. Every evening we are entertained by either Frances Flick, whose lead roles in "We Shook the Family Tree," and "The Neighbors" sent her on a sparkling stage career, or by Phyllis Frederick or Helen Orth, who play scales for us on their clarinets; or by Mike who, if we're very good that day, reads us poetry. And then we also give little skits directed by Mrs. Campbell or Mrs. D'Amico.

But you haven't seen one of the most interesting parts of the house, the basement. Don't mind that awful clinking, clanging, chopping noise. You mean to say you don't know that old lady digging holes in the ground six feet long, three feet wide and seven feet deep? She was the one who read all those ghastly murder stories in high school. Oh-Oh, she's seen us! Duck out of the way. She's coming at us with an ax. Thud! Oh my, too late! Corinne, must you do that to every poor tourist that comes along?

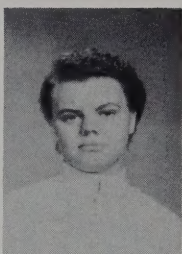

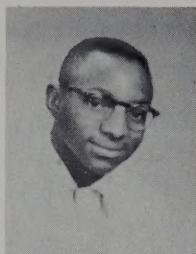

The rest of us had better scram! Here comes the mailman and when they hear his whistle they will start to stampede like a herd of elephants to get their social security checks.

HI-Y

The purpose of the Buckeye Hi-Y club is to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, the high school standards of Christian character.

This year's club got a rather late start due to the consolidation. However, after the first meeting, at which the officers were elected, things really started with a bang. Our annual initiation and our "pie-feed" were held in December, and in January our formal induction was held, after which we had hamburgers and pop; the entertainment was a movie.

At our bi-weekly meetings we discuss possible projects and services to the school and community.

Our activities yet this year will include a combination Hi-Y and Y-Teen picnic and swimming party at Camp Craig.

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teen organization of Buckeye High School was established to create a more Christian attitude among the girls high school.

Like the Hi-Y, we also got a late start, but we have succeeded in having regular bi-weekly meetings.

During the course of the year we have had speakers, a pot luck supper, a Christmas party, and are planning to have a skating party to which the Hi-Y is invited to attend, and also go bowling in the near future.

Coaches and trophy.

Ray Kemp, most valuable player.

The season opened on August 20 and Coach Harold Scrivens was pleased to find 30 boys out for the first practice. In the first few weeks of being literally pounded into shape, the players forgot that they were once two separate schools and developed a team spirit comparable to any other school in the county. The preseason contests were scrimmages against Medina and Strongsville and the Buckeye team made a fine showing in both, exhibiting especially at Strongsville the form that was later to prove them champions. In the first game of the season at PLYMOUTH, the boys from Buckeye ran rough shod over their rather questionable opponents. The Bucks displayed their stone-walled defense and lightning-like attacks which brought 2 touchdowns on kick-offs. At SEVILLE, their first league game, the Bucks allowed one touchdown and took six in return—but still no test for the Buckeye Bucks. That test came the next week, however, when Buckeye ran up against LODI, who was “charged with 10,000 volts of fighting spirit.” Never before in their very short history had the Bucks played a game in which their opponents would not say “give up” but finally had to bow down under the superior manpower of the Buckeye.

the surprise of their life against WAKEMAN. They were out-fought during the whole first quarter and only through desperation were they able to gain a 6-0 lead before the half. In the second half they regained their composure and methodically proceeded to iron out a 36-6 victory. The next game was to the Bucks, the real contest. They faced last year's champs, the HIGHLAND Hornets, who had just dropped their first game of the season to Brunswick and were very determined to find revenge somewhere. It was a rough and tumble show that only two good football teams could put on and it was won only by the breaks, and Buckeye made and capitalized on enough of them to win, 13-0, and automatically set themselves up as sitting ducks for BRUNSWICK, who had defeated Highland, 34-0. But never a team worked harder and more sincerely than did the Buckeye team the following week, I'm sure that it has gone unnoticed in the annals of time. They showed the crowd that night what true champions really looked like as they led Brunswick throughout 3 quarters of the game only to settle for a tie as a result of a spectacular catch on the part of a Brunswick end. It was this game which Buckeye had a chance to show that they were good sports too. At NORWALK ST. PAUL, Buckeye won, 18-13, after traveling 40 miles in a blizzard which had deposited several inches of snow over the muddy playing field. Nice mess. Many said that Buckeye's strongest point was its defense and this was proven when Buckeye played DOYLES TOWN. Although neither team was able to cross the goal line, the Bucks won, 2-0, on a safety. The final whistle climaxed an undefeated and almost perfect season for Buckeye, and although the Bucks had to share the league championship with Brunswick, you can be sure that Coach Scrivens was very well pleased with everything in general. So pleased that he claims he never felt the pain of a broken hand caused by the enthusiastic joy of his boys when they were hoisting him up on their shoulders, until much later.

Recognition and the awards were given out at the Football Banquet, where Coach Scrivens expressed his pride and satisfaction of the season. The main speaker of the evening was Lou Rymkus, a former Cleveland Browns great, who also presented the most valuable player award to Ray Kemp.

FRESHMEN

First Row—D. Stoskopf, B. Whitehead, Coach Scrivens, E. Reutter, F. Brophy.
Second Row—R. Hill, C. Calvert, J. Stewart, R. Bryenton, A. Holly.

Due to the consolidation, Coach Jim Haugh had plenty of good material to select his first string from. The odds were evened up in the long run, however, because the Medina County League was tougher than it had been for a long time (a few of the old timers even say there never was a more balanced and powerful league in Medina County; even though the real contest was for second place, first place having been sewed up by Highland's mighty Hornets.) The boys from Buckeye had—in the words of Coach Haugh—"plenty of speed and scrap" but lacked one very important factor—height. However, this disadvantage was not so apparent as it might have been because they were continually pulling exciting upsets at just the time when they could make life the most miserable for their competitors.

Led at a rollicking pace by Duane "Beaver" Brooks, who ended his high school basketball career in a blaze of glory by making the first string of the Medina "All-County" team, being selected as a Medina County "All-Star" by the Wooster Daily Record, and also being chosen by his teammates as Buckeye's most valuable player, the Buckeye Bucks finished with a season record of seven wins and eleven loses. At the Medina County Tournament the Bucks made a fine showing, but were finally overcome by superior height and manpower. This, of course, climaxed the games Buckeye played and the season was officially closed in grand style at the Basketball Banquet. At the Banquet the players and the cheerleaders were honored and recognition was given to all others who helped make the basketball season as pleasant as it was. Coach Haugh stated that he was extremely proud of "his boys" and thought that their excellent behavior on and off hardwood was an even better reward to him than any possible trophy. Mose Hole, head basketball coach of Wooster College was the main speaker.

OUR GIRLS

The "Varsity" girls kept the team spirit at a high ebb throughout the season with their verbal support and precision-like cheers which were very pleasing to watch. Even at the peak of excitement they held the crowd in complete control. Their reward came at the county tournament when they won the Medina County Annual Cheerleading Contest. Joanne and Frances made the All-county first team.

They were "Reserves" only by name for they put just as much "pep and moller" into the preliminary game as their "older sisters" did in the main stanza. Everyone will certainly agree that they are excellent material for next years "Varsity."
